A CHRONICLE OF EVENTS WITH SIDE LIGHTS ON THE MEN AND WOMEN WHO MAKE UP WASHINGTON'S COMPLEX AND INTERESTING SOCIAL LIFE

THE PRESIDENT AND MRS. HARDING will attend the National Capital Horse Show at Arlington Park this afternoon. The President is anxious to be present at this afternoon's performance as Harbell, his personal saddle horse, is making his debut in the show ring today. Harbell is entered in a special class for thoroughbred saddle horses and the White House is hopeful of seeing him carry away the blue.

The horse, it will be remembered, was presented President Harding last fall by Harvey Firestone of Ohio. Harbell had been assigned to the President for his use on the famous camping trip of Mr. Firestone's in the West Virginia woods last summer, and the President had become so attached to him that Mr. Firestone made the White House stables a present of the beautiful animal.

Today is to be Congressional day at the horse show. The association has invited Senators and members of Congress and their wives and families to attend as guests.

MORE brilliant even than on the opening day was the attendance at the Washington Horse Show yesterday afternoon, and the card was far more interesting, with particularly stirring jumping. The Secretary of War and Mrs. Weeks entertained a company of guests in their box, among them Mrs. Frederick C. Goetz, the Assistant Secretary of War and Mrs. Waldwright were in a box party which included Col. and Mrs. William C. Rivers and Mrs. Minnigerode Andrews.

Mrs. Charles Evans Hughes, wife of the Secretary of State, and her daughter, Miss Catherine Hughes, were among the guests of Col. and Mrs. Robert M. Thompson. With Mr. and Mrs. Larz Anderson were the Chinese Minister and Mme. Sze, Mrs. Morris Ernest Locke and other guests.

General Pershing had in his box Mme. Riano, the charge d'affaires of Panama. Senor Don J. E. Lefevre-Seniorita Ramona E. Lefevre, the French embassy; Mrs. Stanley Rinehart, Mrs. Charles M. Foulke and Mrs. Robert Hinkley.

Mrs. Harold Walker had in her box Mrs. Judah Howe Sears and Mrs. Edward Finkenstaedt.

MRS. SYLVANUS STOKES had her small daughter, Miss Mary Stokes, with her, the little lady watching the proceedings with interest from the knee of her nurse. Mrs. Stokes had no other guests, but entertained a succession of callers during the afternoon. She wore a striking costume of black crepe made absolutely without sleeves. The skirt was wrapped tight about the figure and faced with bright purple. A big black hat, a scarf of black and white monkey fur and white gloves completed a striking costume. The baby had on a white frock and an adorable pink taffeta bonnet.

The dressing was rather gayer than on any other day of the show. Mrs. Joseph Leiter, who had Mrs. Jack Merriam among her guests, wore a gown of black embroidered crepe, with lattice work trimming and a big black hat with a lace brim.

Miss Frances Sullivan, of Philadelphia, who is visiting Miss Gladys Hinkley, wore a graceful gray gown, fringed trim and a big henna hat. Miss Hinkley had on a long gray cloak almost concealing a frock of vivid green, and a big green hat.

Miss Alissa Mellon, daughter of the Secretary of the Treasury, was among those showing yesterday. She had on a smart brown habit and a soft brown hat. With Maj. Gen. H. Keppel Bethell, of the British embassy, who was also riding, she joined Miss Antoinette Graves and her fiancé, Major Frederick Charles Goetz, who were having tea together. They are to be married on Wednesday.

The tea room, run for the benefit of the Children's Hospital, was deservedly popular. Among the pretty waitresses were Miss Ponsie Wainwright, wearing a chic green linen gown and a green feather trimmed hat; Miss Eudora Clover, dressed in dark blue, wool embroidered, and wearing an odd little turban of black bugles; Miss Madeline Austin, Miss Cora Barry, Miss Dorothy DeWitt and Miss Minnie Veeder. Miss Louise Hoar, daughter of Mrs. Frederick Gillett, was one of the lassies selling cigarettes and candy for the Salvation Army. Her gown was of red brown crepe, severely simple, with a small brown hat trimmed in pompons and she wore a broad "Salvation Army" ribbon across her breast.
